Many people, everyday, unknowingly set out to make this their intention; but not everyone has success. This is due to a number of factors most of which are circumstances out of our own control. Jacob Galen is a complex example of such an individual who wishes to be normal. Where the majority of people follow their daily routines; Jake would love nothing more than to have a routine. If he were able to behave like you or I he would cherish every moment he has, waking up every morning with a smile on his face; unfortunately, he doesn t live under normal circumstances. Jake has been classified with Posttraumatic Stress Disorder, PTSD, living each moment of his life in fear of losing control. His past is a mystery that his family and doctors are slowly helping him recover, but Jake knows there s something else missing; something the people who love him are withholding. Not quite sure on who to believe, Jake finds himself investigating his past. However, he discovers the reason his loved ones haven t been trustworthy is for his own protection. Join Jake on an upside down adventure as he tries to solve a lifetime of mysteries. See if you can piece together the clues better than he as he relearns details about who he is, but be warned some things may not be what they seem to be.
